Cookie policy

Necessary cookies, administrator sign-in and external services used by the Cantar website.

Prepared 8 September 2026. Working draft with no effective date. The operator must complete and approve it before publication as binding terms.

1. Why cookies are used

Cookies are small pieces of information stored by a browser. The cantar.cz website uses them for operation, request protection and administrator sign-in. This overview describes the reviewed website version prepared on 8 September 2026.

The code of this version contains no analytics or advertising measurement tools. A consent banner for marketing categories that are not used is therefore not displayed.

2. Necessary website cookies

- Session cookie (a website-specific name ending in -session): connects requests within a visit and maintains sign-in. Its configured lifetime is 120 minutes, renewed during use.
- XSRF-TOKEN: helps protect requests from forgery. Its lifetime follows the session, configured here as 120 minutes.
- remember_web_*: created when an administrator signs in using “Remember me”. Its configured lifetime is up to 400 days; browsers may impose a shorter limit. Signing out or changing the password invalidates remembered access.

3. Consent and browser controls

Czech rules do not require consent for technical cookies necessary to provide a requested service. You can remove or block cookies through your browser settings. Disabling them may affect sign-in and security features.

Administrators can revoke remembered access by signing out. Closing a window alone is not signing out. Do not enable remembered access on a shared device.

4. Bookings, maps and fonts

Reenio is a separate reservation website. Cookies and other processing after opening it are covered by that service’s information; this document does not replace its cookie inventory.

No external map frame is embedded in the page. A map opens only after the link is selected. Fonts, however, load from Google Fonts when the page loads and transmit technical network information to its provider. This processing is distinct from storing cookies.

5. Future changes

Before adding analytics, advertising pixels, embedded videos or other optional tools, the operator must update the inventory and obtain prior consent where required. Refusal and later withdrawal must be accessible and clear.

Cookies on test.cantar.cz and cantar.cz are not shared between the two environments. This document supplements the privacy policy and does not cover other businesses at the resort.

To complete before approval

- Verify the actual cookie names and expiry times on the production domain before publication.
- Confirm external booking services and the arrangements for loading fonts.
- Add the operator’s contact email and an effective date.
